Wonder what my roommate is going to be like? I sure hope that she isn't one of those radical types. They're positively disgusting! Well, no need to think of that now, we still have 30-minutes to go. "Worcester exit two miles" Oh! What a horrid-looking place. This is not at all like Greenwich. I hope I never pass this way again.

I guess I'm a bit nervous. Oh! How foolish of me. Why, I have a distinct advantage. Mother went to Regis and she's told me everything that I need to know. "High on a hilltop... hm hm hm." There's the tower. How impressive. I can see from here. "Welcome to Newton?? "Dad, I think we missed the turn" Oh, O.K. ... Well, this is more like it! Everything that I expected! Usdan, Goldfarb, Heller. I don't remember hearing any of these names before... Brandeis Security... "Hey Dad, I think we missed that turn again." ... At last. College Hall Rm 431. Well, here goes...

"Where are you from?" Venezuela. Hm. South Africa. Gee! She's so far away from home. She's going to get awfully homesick. But then, she can always call. I hope ... I mean they must have telephones there, or do they? Gee, it's nice and peaceful here. Carpeting to absorb the sound, how thoughtful. I'm going to really like studying here. And I'll be able to get a lot done here too. Look at that huge reading room. Everyone's so quiet. Encyclopedias, periodicals, look at all of those books. Oh wow! This place has got to have at least one copy of every book in the entire world!

I've seen everything that there is to be seen on campus. Let me check to be sure. Where is that map? Library, Regis Hall, Stamps Museum... Yes, all twelve buildings. Maybe I'd better see if I can find my roommate. She and Betsy said that they were going to take a walk. Betsy sure seems to make friends easily. That's what I'll do. I really ought to make friends. Mother was quite popular when she was here. Here they are! Oh no! They're walking towards the forest. It would just ruin me if one of the sisters ever got the impression that I had been "smoking" in the woods.

"Phoenix! Phoenix! Only a quarter!" "Hey lady, watch where you're goin'!" I wonder if he's speaking to me. "Like to sign a petition?" "PEACE AND POWER!" "Get your BAD!" How much? "Hm?" How much is the paper? I'd better be a little more thrifty if I intend to do any shopping. Look at all of these people! This is worse than Christmas at home. 'Oh what a beautiful coat. I'm sorry I didn't realize that you intended to purchase it. No need to be so upset! It's really not my size anyway.' She didn't have to snatch it. How awfully mean of her. Boston sure is strange. 'Hey Betsy. Let's go shopping in Cambridge.' Yes, that's where Harvard is. It must be nice there. This train sure is nice. Not at all like that thing that brought us into Boston. Yes, I'm going to like it here. "Madame, you dropped your bag." 'Thanky'—~~God~~ LORD! HIPPIES!

"Have an apple." "No thank you. I don't want to spoil my dinner." "Oh, have one. You must be terribly hungry." "No, the menu said that we're having 'mystery meat' for supper. I'm trying to leave room for that – it should be good." "Here comes the Regis bus." Thank goodness. No long lines. We're in luck.

"There's a mixer at Holy Cross tonight!" What's a mixer? Oh yes, I remember now. That's like a party, only bigger. I wonder what I should wear. Pants. No, I'd better be on the safe side and wear a skirt. Now, let me see. Plaid or solid? Oh, definitely solid. Plaid is a bit too high schoolish. After all, I am an adult now. This pink pleated one ought to be nice. No—maybe. that's a little too tight, a little too enticing. I wouldn't want to give the wrong impression. No no, I'd better wear the pants. I think I heard someone say something about hills. Well, if I'm going to be climbing hills, I'd better wear pants. "By the way, where is Holy Cross?" "Worcester." "That's not about a half hour away, is it?" "Yes, why." "Oh, nothing. I mustn't judge that school because of its location. That's so unfair. Suppose someone were to base their judgment of Regis on Weston?

"Have a beer." 'No, thanks, you drink it.' "So where'd you go to high school?" 'Cathedral.' "Then you must know Jim Murray." 'No, I don't think so.' "Is that your class ring?" 'Yes.' "Jim has one exactly like it..." "Have a beer." 'No, thanks, you drink it.' "So, what made you decide to go to Regis?"

"Well it wasn't a very hard choice. It is a very good school, you know?" "Yeah, that's why I'm here..." "Have a beer." "No." "It's my third and final offer." "No thanks, you drink it."

"I really think I'm gonna dig this college life. It's really groovy, you know?" "Yes it is a desirable experience, isn't it?" "I'm not even going to waste my time offering this time. I'm going to drink this one myself. So, so... I feel... I feel... ooh I don't feel so good... OOPS!... Gosh! Right on your grey slacks. What can I say? They were becoming.

You must be educated. Facts will always be found in books. The purpose of education is to sharpen wits.

I am not into this.

Hey! The Greening of America, The Origins of Totalitarianism, The Making of a Counter Culture, Dutchman. This dude is selling some really heavy books. Too bad I don't have the money to buy anymore. I have so many things to buy... Let's see: 2 jeans, 2 shirts, a candle, ... I'm gonna run out of money if I buy that candle. Well, that does it. I'll just have to hitch a ride back to school. Now, let me see, what color candle do I want?" Hey! Got any lavender ones left? no? Well, then see you next week!" At least I can ride home.

I wonder what that smell is? Probably nothing. Hey, look at that little girl. She's really cool. This is really a very dynamite experience! Quite together! Nothing at all like Greenwich . . . It really is nice to be out in the real world with real people. "Chicken feet 29¢ per pound" Wonder how that tastes? I didn't know that they came here too. I saw her on the common last night. Gee, she looks funny. Who ever heard of a black kid with braces? It's getting late. I told Bets I'd meet her at the J.F.K. building at six. I wonder if it's safe to cross this street. Bostonians drive like maniacs. Oh, what the hell. Life is but a chance...Onward!

I'm glad we made it before she finished speaking. "How is she? I mean how has she been so far?" Just what I thought, nothing to offer but a lot of rhetoric. I bet she won't even allow for a question and answer period. She really is quite jive. "Democracy—who does she think she is fooling?" Hey, this chick really believes all of that stuff. I'll bet she hasn't even read The Female Eunuch. What gives her the right?! I can't believe that she finished at Brandeis. Sounds like a typical Regis chick to me. All of these politicians are the same . . . no power of persuasion whatsoever. Who wants to pay $2500 for some lecturer to show what a great sense of humor she has?

Now! Now she's beginning to touch on some human issues. I wonder how far she'll go. . . . Now this is getting to be quite interesting. Maybe she won't be so bad after all.

Margaret Mead—Women Power

by Jo-Ann Messina and Fran Perrone

On Tuesday evening September 19th, Regis College opened its fall cultural series with a talk by Dr. Margaret Mead. Dr. Mead has recei[illegible] B.A

Mead said two things were at stake. First, women must learn to cooperate with each other and secondly women must be willing to give orders to men, and work under other women.

Dr. Mead was also in favor of co-educational dorms to develop non-dating relationships among men and women. She feels this is helpful to those women who go into a business

THIS IS NO DAMN JOKE!

EVERYBODY MUST

EVACUATE COLLEGE

HALL!

Sincerely,
Father Time

Each day the sun rises and sets over the Legis moccasin. It colors each morning sky and paints each setting horizon. The sun will continue its universal ritual for days to come. It is the individual who must develop and grow. Countless persons have changed the course of history, science, art and literature beneath the rising and setting of that same sun.

Education includes everything exerting a formative influence, causing a person to be at a given moment exactly what she is. One cannot fully define the infinite sources which integrate to form the educated woman.

Sophomores, "the wise fools," upperclassmen who have coped with and survived the freshman year. There is an acceptance by others that you are here to stay. It is a time of deciding how it shall come to pass and how you will pass it. Foundations of enduring friendship are lain, the challenges of new knowledge await, and there is the integration of individuals into the Legis Society that is moving and making impact.

Each day experiences various sensations which are often taken for granted. The first piercing ray of morning sunlight, the bubbling of a heated coffeepot, and the refreshing taste of Crest, Ultra-brite, whatever. The day continues and one is confronted with half-effort, smiles, vigorous hellos, and the never ceasing attention to a professor's voice followed by a scribbled paraphrase.

One greets the variety of faces with a triggering of feelings, love, indifference, or occasional dislike. The interaction of shared experiences like a walk in the perfumed air of Spring, the goodbyes of summer vacation, the welcoming back of fall and the mood that accompanies the calmness of the woods after a winter snowfall.

People develop a willingness and need to open very completely to someone. An ability to talk freely and confide secures lasting friendships. Perhaps real communication comes about to fill the void created when leaving home. There is a need for a certain security which could be filled by someone who thinks and feels like you. Through living situations one learns to understand people.

Maybe yet for all of me, a smile may yet be left in my eyewillery, and some can also with glee shine and warm

Life is full and overflowing. The world is warm and pressure is gentle. Self-knowledge is developing a deep and fulfilling experience. People look within themselves and discover thoughts and images that are integrated into their character. Confidence grows and the sophomore begins to rise in self-esteem.

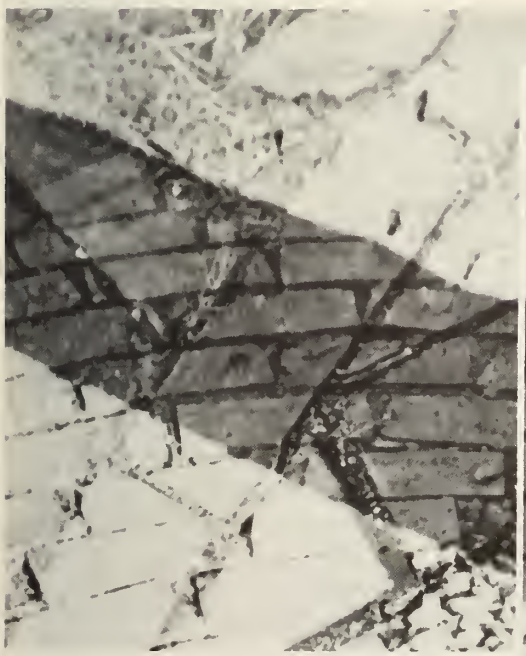
Love,

The Lady in the Tower

The students of today are striving for the future and dreams of tomorrow. We stand suspended on the brink of two eternities, the past and the future. The junior has matured, she is fully accepted into the college society. Her friendships are bound by deep affection and understanding. She is an individual with justified confidence, knowledge and her own philosophy. The junior is experimenting and aspiring to new goals. It is time to harvest her thoughts together and coerce them into a definite purpose.

An understanding of 'living' has developed when one can do things such as understand the importance of scientific advances, appreciate artistic masterpieces, and interpret poetry. But when the products of scientific research are seen as artistic masterpieces, whose very existence is a sonnet to us all, then we understand a little, just a little about 'life'.

That is what education is all about, or it is not.



If we only have love
then tomorrow will dawn and the days of years will rise on that morn.

If we only have Love
to embrace without fears.
We will kiss with our eyes
We will sleep without tears.

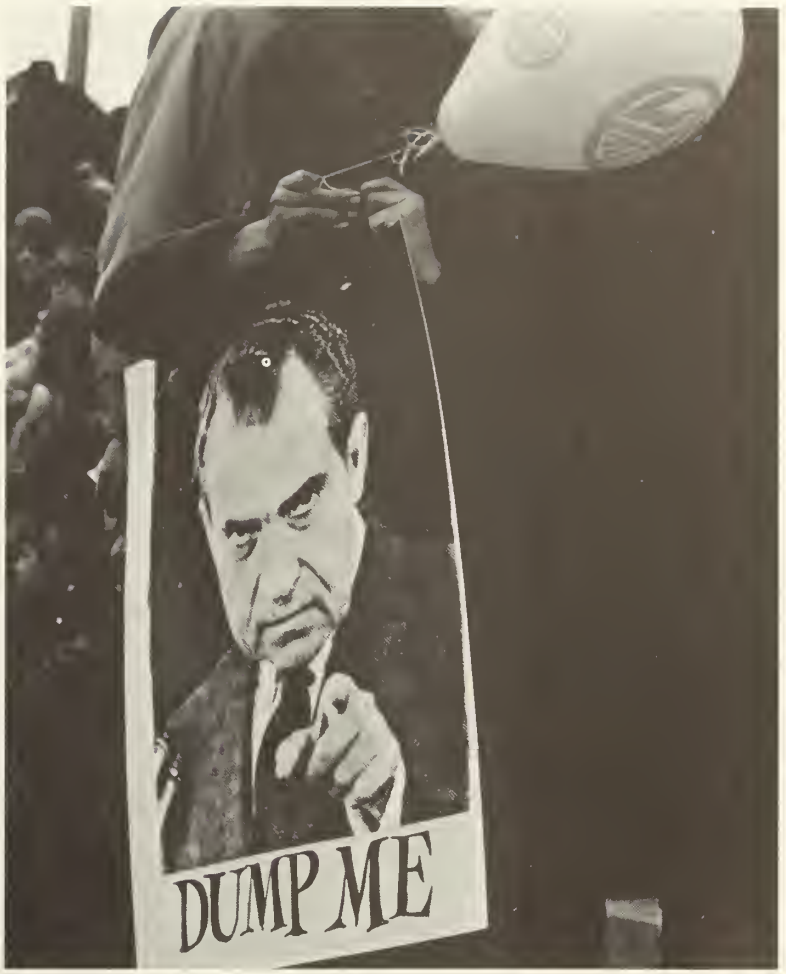
If we only have love
With our arms open wide
Then the young and the old
Will stand at our side.

If we only have love
Love that's falling like rain
Then the parched desert earth
Will grow green again.

If we only have love
For the Him that we shout
For the song that we sing
Then we'll have a way out.

If we only have love
We can reach those in pain
We can heal all our wounds
We can use our own names.

If we only have love
We can melt all the guns
And then give the new world
To our daughters and sons.



If we only have love,
We will never bow down
We'll be tall as the pines
Neither heroes nor clowns.

If we only have love
Then Jerusalem stands
And then death has no shadow
There are no foreign lands.

If we only have love
We'll only be men
and we'll drink from the grail
To be born once again.

Then with nothing at all
But the little we are We'll have conquered all time
All space, the sun and the star.

Jacques Brel

It's not that you forget anything of the past these years nor is it that anything which went before has become unimportant. But somehow or somewhere, sometime something is not the same.

Call it a mood,
a change in appearance,
even the weather,
but there is a very different atmosphere now.

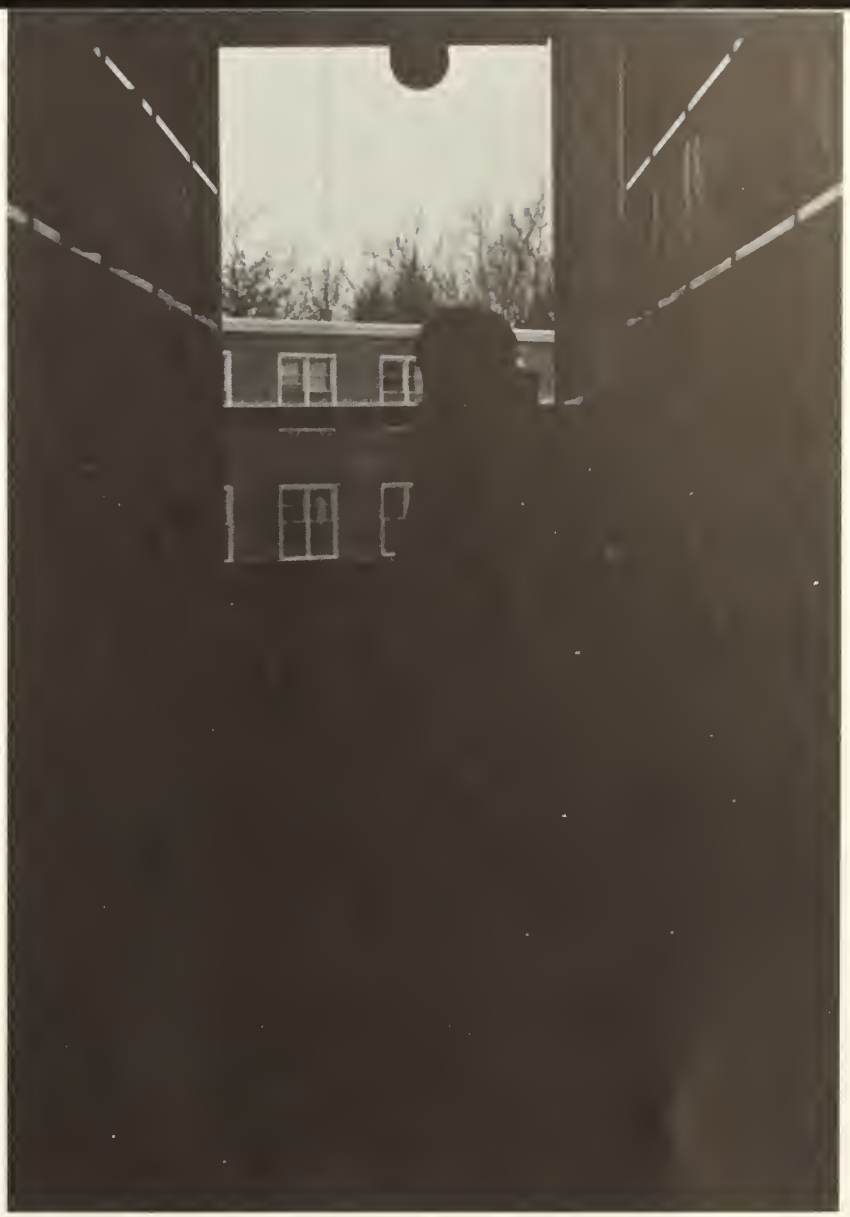
Three years ago, your life was electrified by youthful expectancy of a new environment, new possibilities, and a secret wish for instant adulthood.



The anticipation waned with lack successive repetitions act as you grew accustomed to your static world on campus.

It was a pleasant life as a passive receiver; mates sure sent to remind you, meetings held to organize you, posters and pictures punctuated by periodic pagings and proclamation to buy, build, budge, or bridle you.

When was it? End of freshman year? Sophomore year? A creeping dissatisfaction put ideas into your head. Perhaps a first serious look at your own place started you: You were being shaped, molded and you were allowing it!

There, the routine of classes, studying, cultural events, nights out, and pseudosupport vacations was filling and shaping your college career.

It was time for you to react. The emphasis shifted from the novelty of your surroundings to the novelty of you. Decisions made now were your decisions. Goals set forth were of your design. Whatever you did became important if only because you did it.

You began to unbutton your cocoon with very uncertainty that a moth, and not a butterfly, would emerge.

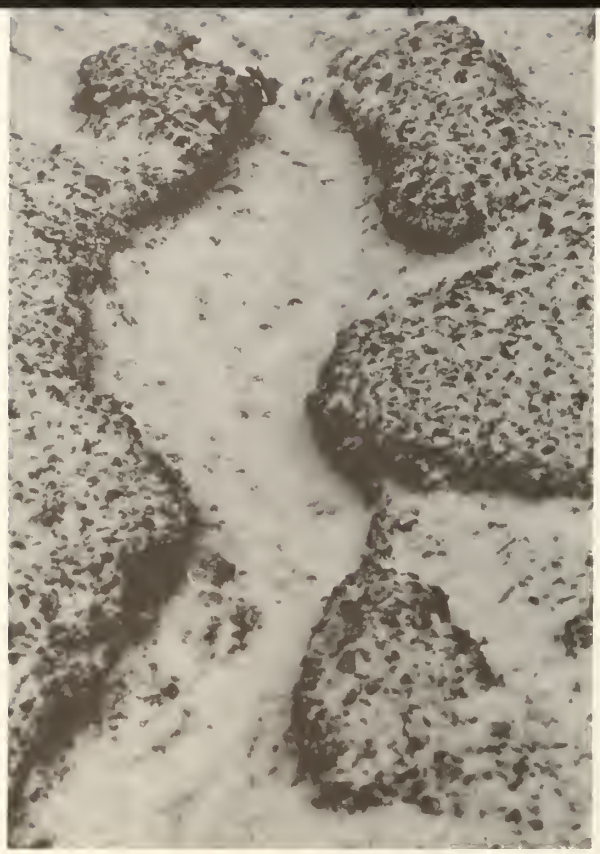
Never fear and perserver, you said. Make plans, see them thwarted, make more plans. What a great slogan that was, if you had the time, energy and patience to prove its worth

But four years, now it seems only four years, gave you little time to put success at your disposal, adulthood on your forehead, and frunds on demand.



Each year cut more into you, shaving away your adolescence, comfortable myths, your autumnal stability, and now the school itself. Winter has set in. Your focus has moved in a 180° spin from those seasonal years before to the painfully real years ahead.

"Painfully real"? A moot point. But the invitation to clutch at it and live is unmistakable. The choice to live so intensely is ours.

... and if you have not learned the art of independent research you probably never will .... and if you have not begun to understand why everyone does not wish to eat apple pie you probably never will...
and if you have not yet realized that "they" do not all look alike ...

For 'thus and so' and 'here to fore' should never mean the same again'.

And you must determine if from this day forward has any real meaning at all...

you were students not of this institution, but
of time, all time.
And if you never realize this then ...

You have missed the whole point of your visit here

But if we were not quick enough to take advantage of me, then that is sad. For I could never take advantage of you by coming back again.

"It is my wish that you have learnd to be political···

... without holding yourself in contempt

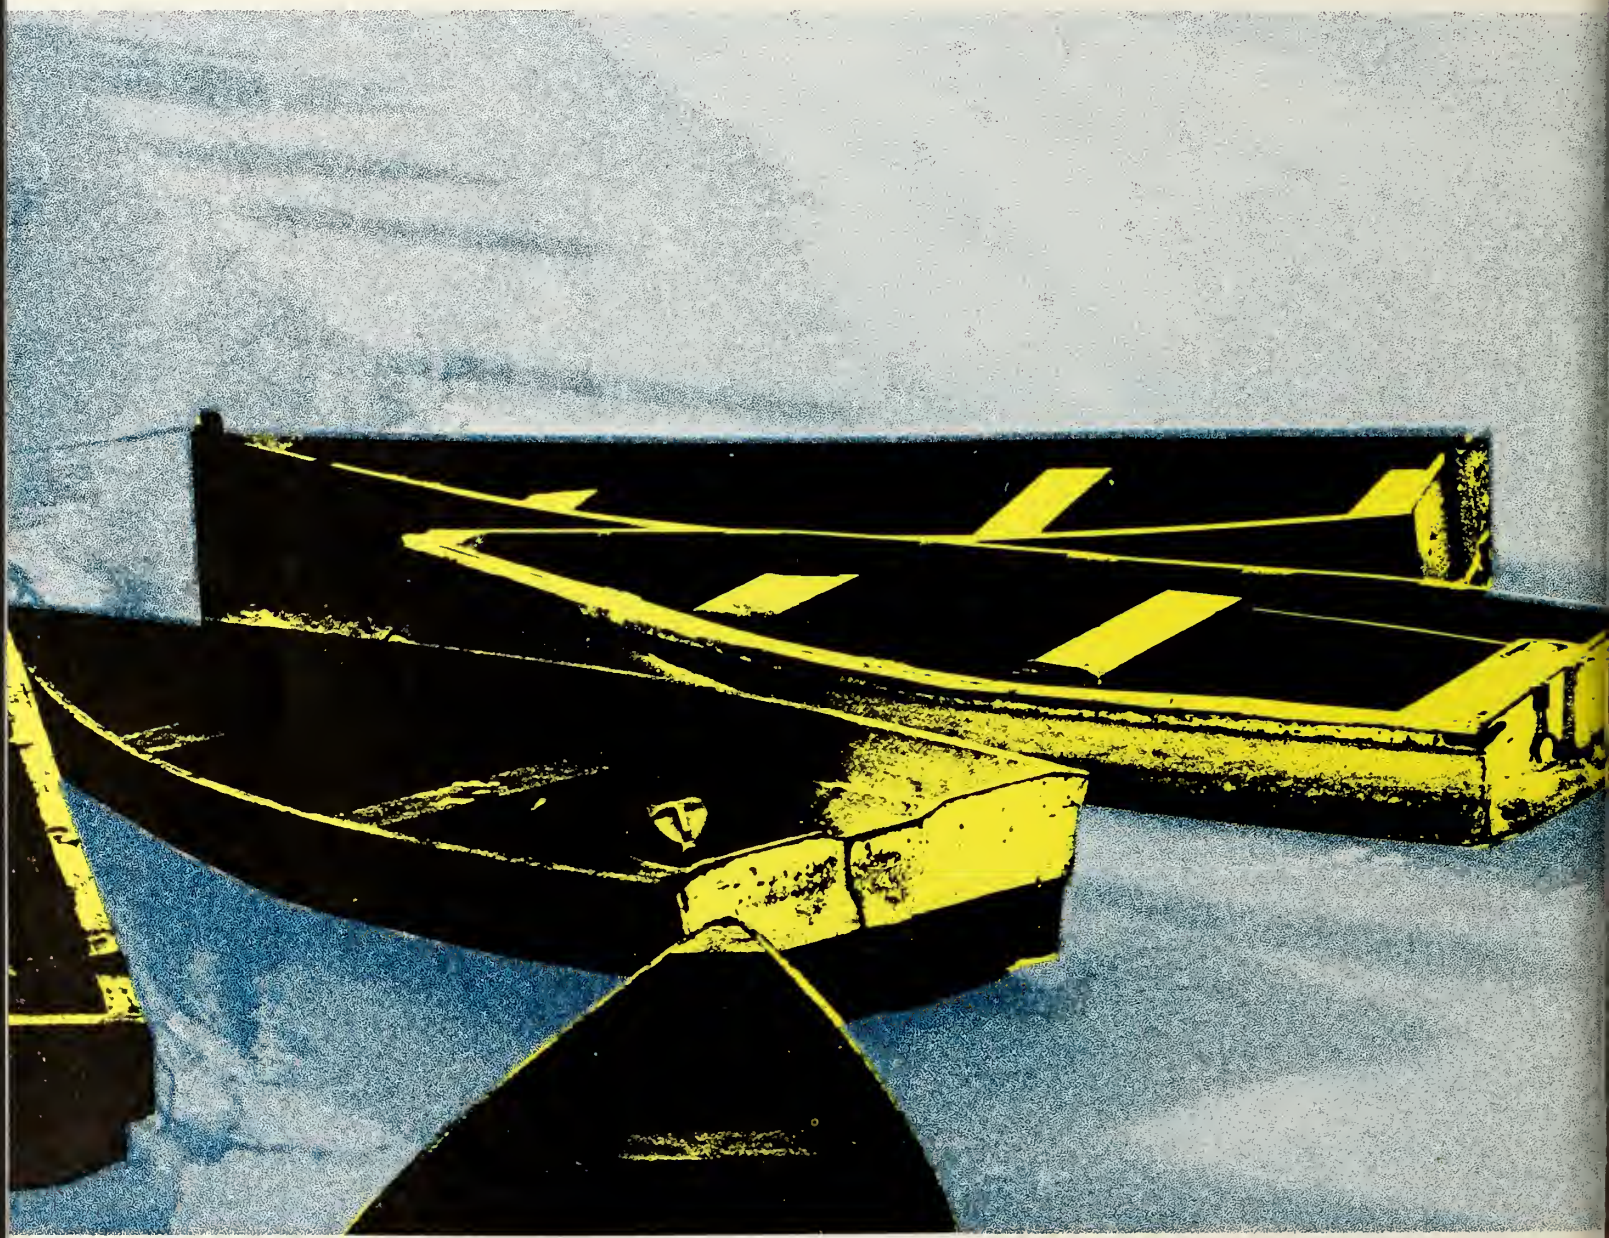
And I trust that you have learned to be dramatic ... while refusing to act out your lives.

And I pray that your brush with history will not encourage you to live in the past. But rather ...

Place all things in their proper perspective.

But if you are not wise enough to take advantage of me, then that's too bad. Because I would never ever take advantage of you by coming back again.

But if you were not able to take advantage of me, we are both sad.



But I would never ever take advantage of you by coming back again

I loved You,

A Fleeting Moment
